End-of-Sale/End-of-Life for the 8240 Controller Card

Versions Affected ETM[®] model 8240 controller cards only.

End-of-Sale/End-of-Life for the 8240 Controller Card SecureLogix is announcing end-of-sale (EOS)/end-of-life (EOL) of the 8240 controller card used in ETM model 2100 and 3200 appliances. EOS will occur on December 31, 2010. The functionality provided by this card has been replaced by an enhanced controller card, the 8540.

On December 31, 2011, the ETM 8240 controller card will enter EOL. After this date, no new features added to the ETM System will be supported on this card model. Technical support and critical bug fixes will still be provided to customers with valid support contracts.

After December 31, 2017, this card model will no longer be supported, tested, or warranted to connect to the ETM Server.

Hardware Warranties The last date for the purchase of a 1-year extended hardware warranty for any 8240 card is December 31, 2016. Extended hardware warranties for this card model cannot extend beyond Dec 31, 2017.
